MASUT DA RIVE PINOT GRIGIO FRIULI ISONZO JESIMIS 2016

Country Italy
Region Friuli-Venezia Giulia
Vintage 2016

Score
90

A deeply colored, ambitious pinot grigio. However, the wine comes off a bit heavy and slightly clumsy with some butter-caramel character at the rather tannic finish. Fun though. Drink now.

This could pass as a pale rosé and not only visually. Nice balance between aromatic apple character, crisp acidity and a hint of tannin on the palate, making this a rather flexible food wine. Drink now for the freshness.

The full, exotic fruit on the nose makes this a very unusual and attractive pinot grigio. Time has really helped this rather concentrated wine to attain great harmony. Long, fruity finish. A great food wine. Drink now.

A very attractive, modern-style sauvignon blanc with the full range of classic aromas, ranging from green bell pepper through to passion fruit. Plenty of fruit and depth, but also clean and crisp. With more complexity and elegance this would rate higher. Drink now.

The nose is very attractive here; bracken, cedar and spices combine well with orange peel, strawberries, boysenberries and ash berries. Medium to full body, lithe and velvety tannins and a tangy, medium-long finish. Drink now or hold.

This has as much soy-sauce and savory character on the nose as it has bright blackberries. Then, there's very attractive juiciness on the palate, where the dry tannins are rather polished for this cool-climate region. Crisp, slightly sappy finish. Drink now.
